A ROCCO FORTE HOTEL

A GUEST OF THE FAMILY

In much more than name, Rocco Forte Hotels is the Forte family. At its head are Sir Rocco, his sister Olga and his three children. Behind it are four generations of Forte hoteliers.

It is in every way a family business; a shared love evident in every Rocco Forte hotel – each exuding the Forte’s innate Anglo-Italian style, sophistication and warmth.

Hotel Amigo – their iconic Brussels base – has all the hallmarks of a Rocco Forte hotel. Its team exhibit their signature tailor-made service, whether entertaining a family in the Tintin Suite or catering to royalty on the Armand Blaton Suite’s rooftop terrace. Its design, by Olga Polizzi, blends a modern sensibility with an homage to the hotel’s home. An important art collection reflects the city’s creative scene; Flemish furnishings and chocolates honour its address.

Part of the city’s fabric for 500 years, the Amigo presides over Brussels’s charming cultural centre by the Grand Place. Windows look up to the Hôtel de Ville’s spire, medieval cobbled streets below wind their way to the Mont des Arts or Le Sablon’s antiques, and locals wind their way here to take a seat at the Amigo’s much-loved restaurant – testament to its place as a pillar of its town.

Converted to a grand hotel for the 1958 Brussels World's Fair, the Amigo's lobby lounge remains a prime meeting place for its sociable air and central spot

The top-floor Armand Blaton Suite, named after the hotel's founders, enjoys artwork from the Blaton family's private collection, and a 60m<sup>2</sup> terrace (overleaf)

A rooftop terrace with modern furniture and a view of a historic church spire in Brussels at dusk. The terrace features a glass railing, potted plants, and a small table with chairs. The church spire is illuminated by warm lights, and the sky is a soft blue. The terrace is furnished with a white wicker sofa, two armchairs, and two lounge chairs. A small table with a candle is also present. The terrace is located on a building with a modern facade, and the church spire is visible in the background.

*“Brussels always gives me inspiration:
wonderful antique shops and the Grand Place, as stunning and perfect
a square as any I have seen”*

Olga Polizzi

“BoCConi is a slice of Italy right in the heart of Brussels”
