Artistic Encounters

Art lovers can meet two Palermo-born artists this spring.

Ignazio Schifano studied restoration and antiques in London before working as a restorer for Buckingham Palace. Twenty years on, he has opened his underground studio in Palazzo Liberty, where he paints and restores frescoes. Enjoy a glass of wine or a cup of coffee as you browse his work, find out about his artistic process and hear his insights into Palermo's cultural treasures.

Nicola Pucci meanwhile has exhibited in Italy, France, the UK and the USA. Discover more about his work over a plate of homemade spaghetti and a glass of Sicilian wine in the open kitchen of his studio, a contemporary loft space where he lives with two roosters.
